PENSION RAISE FOR BOYS OF '61

Uncle Sam Plans to Make it Christmas Gift This Year.

OUTLAY OF $35,000,000

County Civil And Mexican War Survivors Will be Benefitted When Bill Becomes Law.

Civil War veterans of Adams county and survivors of that conflict everywhere will receive a Christmas present this year from the United States government in the form of an increase in pension, according to plans of leaders in Congress. A bill providing for the pension increase has already been passed by the Senate, and Senator Bursum, Republican, New Mexico, its author, says he has been promised by House leaders it will be passed by that body soon after it reconvenes.

Increase in the pay envelope of the men who took part in the Civil and Mexican wars, from $50 to $72 is provided by the measure and Uncle Sam expects to make the first payment during the Christmas season. It is estimated between fifty and sixty men in this county would be directly benefitted by the measure.

All Civil and Mexican War veterans having served ninety days, or any who have developed disabilities, would receive the increase from $50 to $72 a month under the bill and their widows' pensions would be increased from $30 to $50 a month. Other beneficiaries under the bill include Civil War Army nurses, who would receive $50 a month, while pensioners of the Indian wars would receive $30 and their widows $20 a month.

The Pension Bureau estimated the increased cost of the Bursum bill during the first year would amount to about $60,000,000 but Senator Bursum told the Senate revised estimates placed it at not over $35,000,000. The present pension outlay is about $300,000,000 annually.

OFFICERS TAKE YOUTHS

Officers from Long Branch, New Jersey, came to Gettysburg Thursday afternoon and claimed Solomon Staten and Holeva Woller, arrested here by Detective Charles A. Wilson on a charge of stealing an automobile. They were taken back to Long Branch where they live.

Officers said the automobile belongs to the parents of Woller, but at the disappearance of the car and the boy, police were notified and a search instituted. Five boys were in the car when the trip from Long Branch was started. One left the car at Trenton and two disappeared when the car stalled at Marsh Creek, along the Lincoln Highway Tuesday afternoon. Officers said the young men had no criminal record.

CRAGER OFFICERS AMONG MISSING

Seventy Five Subpoenas Issued in Fraud Charge Case.

Nine of the sixteen warrants issued by Commissioner Hitchcock of the Post Office Department for officers of the Crager System, Inc., which sent its stock salesmen into Adams county this summer, have not yet been executed. Several more arrests are expected to be made in New York. It seems operatives of the concern, not caught in the net when the offices of the concern were raided last Tuesday, dissappeared suddenly.

Last August when William Schleim, alleged agent of the Crager System, was arrested here, a half dozen other representatives of the company were in the county. Within two hours after Schleim's detention, not a member of the high-powered stock selling force could be located.

A score of employes of the Crager System have been questioned by Assistant United States District Attorney McCoy and Noile and Fitch, post office inspectors. Most of the persons questioned were young women and minor employes. Seventy five subpoenas have been issued.

Three heads of the concern were arrested in New York Tuesday and released on $10,000 bail each, charged with using the mails to defraud. Four men, arrested in Chicago on the same charges, were held in $25,000 bail each.

The investigation was started as a result of complaints made to postal inspectors in Philadelphia.

MRS. DAVID S. CRISWELL

Former Gettysburg Resident Who Heard Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

Sarah C. Criswell, wife of David S. Criswell, died September 16, at her late home in Clarinda, Iowa, where she had lived with her husband since 1914.

Mrs. Criswell was one of the few contemporaries of this age who were present at Lincoln's famous Gettysburg Address. She always retained a clear memory of the words and appearance of that great man on the memorable day.

Funeral services were held from the residence in Clarinda, on September 19, conductd by the Rev. W. C. Williamson, pastor of the Clarinda Presbyterian Church. Interment was in Clarinda Cemetery.

Mrs. Criswell was the daughter of William and Catherine Young, and was born on a farm near Gettysburg, January 18, 1847. In 1873 she married David Criswell, of Butler, Pa., where she lived until 1879. At that time, she and her husband moved to Iowa where they lived until her death at the age of 75.

Besides her husband, six children, seventeen grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren survive. A brother, C. M. Young, of Des Moines, Iowa, and a sister, Mrs. Laura Kuhn, of Colorado, also survive.

TEST SWIMMING POOL

Find Tank at College Is In Excellent Condition.

Water was turned into the swimming pool in the new Robert Weidensall Young Men's Christian Association building on the college campus for the first time Wednesday. The purpose of the authorities was to test the pool and the filter plant. Dr. W. A. Granville, this morning, reported the test was highly satisfactory in every way.

A half dozen students, selected to assist in the test, were the first to plunge into the pool.

According to faculty regulations, there is a ban on swimming for a period of three weeks after each student has undergone a medical examination by Dr. George D. Stahley, of the college. The pool will be open to those who have qualified, the second week in October.

Local School Has Total Enrollment of 123 Students This Year. Students From Seven Foreign Countries.

Nine states and seven foreign countries are represented in the enrollment of 123 students at Gettysburg Academy this year, according to registration figures given out by Dr. C. H. Huber, headmaster of the school. Pennsylvania heads the list, with seventy five students enrolled at the academy. These 75 students represent almost every section of the state throughout its length and breadth.

The next largest contingent of students is listed from Maryland. Eleven are enrolled at the academy from the state below the Mason and Dixon line this fall. Other states represented and the number of students enrolled at the academy from each are: District of Columbia, 6; New Jersey, 5; Connecticut, 4; Virginia, 4; New York, 4; Ohio, 1, and Delaware, 1.

D. Kanasut, whose home is in Bangkok, Siam, is farther away from his native country than any other student at the academy. It is estimated that he travelled approximately 10,000 miles to attend the local school. Byron Tambakis, whose home is in Smyrna, Asia Minor, comes second in point of distance from his native home.

Cuba, South America, Japan, Mexico, and Peru also are represented in the student body. Two students give towns in Japan as their home address. The other countries have but one representative.

Gettysburg Academy has the largest enrollment in its history this year. In order to house the increased number of students, the property of Mrs. Emory Bair, Carlisle street, opposite from the academy building, has been leased for use as a dormitory. Stevens Hall is also quartering a number of the academy's registration.

Eighteen day students from Gettysburg and Adams county have matriculated at the academy. Of this number thirteen are from town, the remaining five from the county.

MILK PRICE HIGHER

Increase for Local Producers And Consumers.

Parched pastures and the resulting decreases of the milk supply, together with co-operative efforts of the Pennsylvania Milk Producers' Association, have been the causes of an increase in the price of milk to the producers of the county. Until six weeks ago the price was $1.60 for 100 pounds. Since that time it has been $1.80. The price after October 1 is expected to be about $2.40 per 100 pounds.

Announcement was made today by a local firm of an increase in the retail price of milk of one cent a quart. The price, effective October 1, will be 10 cents a quart and 6 cents a pint. The average increase in price to the producer is said to two cents a quart.

AGENT TRICKED BY CO-WORKER

Glenn E. Rice Exonerated When Stock Transaction is Explained.

Complete exoneration on the charges of embezzlement by agent made against Glenn E. Rice, son of Rev. J. E. Rice, of Codorus, York county ,and former resident of Seven Stars, has been made, according to the clergyman, who today explained the transaction which resulted in the apparent implication of his son.

Failure of Glenn E. Rice to take a receipt for a sum of money turned over to a representative of the Hudson-Delmar Company, York, and his inability to prove that the transaction occurred, Mr. Rice said, led to the issuance of a warrant. York county authorities are seeking for Ames Winthrop, to whom young Rice declares he gave the money. Winthrop is charged with embezzlement as agent.

Several weeks ago, it was explained, young Rice sold Wilson E. Shearer, of Jefferson, York county, certain securities, payment for which was made with $60 in cash and a note for $490. The note and money was turned in by Rice at the York offices of the Hudson-Delmar Company, the records show. The company at once discounted the note, it is said. Some time later Shearer gave Rice $490 in cash to pay the note. The money, according to Rice, he gave to Winthrop and took no receipt. Now it appears Winthrop has disappeared and there is no record of the money having reached the company. Satisfactory settlement of the case was made when the transaction was explained to Shearer, it is reported.

Radio Antennae Above Top of Automobile Novel in Many Sections. Heard Messages with Car in Motion.

Radio antennae on the roofs of houses are generally common in this section of the country, but the first wireless receiving station installed in an automobile was seen in town this morning. The car, belonging to E. Blanchard and C. C. Stichweh, of Booneton, New Jersey, is equipped with the highest priced amateur receiving set on sale, and is capable of receiving messages broadcasted for a distance of 3,000 miles, according to Mr. Stichweh.

The two men, who are engaged in the garage business in Booneton, New Jersey, are on their way home after a six months' trip to the Pacific coast.

The wireless receiving station was installed in the automobile by Mr. Stichweh, before he and his travelling companion left New Jersey. Mr. Stichweh is a radio enthusiast. A four-wire antennae is rigged up about a foot above the top of the machine and the receiving set is located in the tonneau of the car.

Even when the automobile is in motion, messages are picked up by the travelers, according to both men. Conditions are not always the best when the car is moving, but messages are nevertheless distinct, Mr. Stichweh said.

Included in their equipment is a complete camping outfit and the men

DECREE DENIED STILLMAN SUIT

Mrs. Stillman Vindicated of Charges of Infidelity.

BABY HELD LEGITIMATE

Referee Confirms Charges of Stillman's Misconduct With Florence Leads, Former Chorus Girl.

(By Associated Press)

Carmel, N. Y., Sept. 29—James A. Stillman, former president of the National City Bank of New York, was denied a decree in his suit for absolute divorce against his wife, Ann U. Stillman, and baby Guy Stillman, was declared legitimate in the findings of Daniel L. Cleason, referee in the case which was filed here today.

The referee's petition was a complete vindication for Mrs. Stillman. Not only was her decree upheld, but the referee also confirmed her charges that Mr. Stillman had mis-conducted himself with Florence H. Leads, former Broadway show girl, and that Mrs. Leads had borne him children.

In regard to Mrs. Stillman's charges, that her banker husband had also misconducted himself with two other women identified only as "Helen" and "Clara", referee Cleason decided that the evidence was not sufficient to prove the allegation of adultery.

The referee wrote that testimony produced by Mr. Stillman in support of his charge that Mrs. Stillman misconducted herself with Fred Beauvais, part Indian guide, alleged by the banker to be the father of little Guy Stillman, "was sufficient to justify him (Stillman) in believing Mrs. Stillman guilty of the charges made against her."

"A careful examination, however, of all the testimony," said the refe-

CONSTANTINOPLE TURK OBJECTIVE

Russian Diplomat Predicts Return of Moslems to Their Old Capital.

CITES HISTORY FOR PROOF

Near East Has Been Bone of Contention For Centuries. Russians Believe City is Theirs.

New York, Sept. 29—The return of the Turks to Constantinople within the near future because of the rivalries of the powers in Europe was predicted Thursday by Baron Alexander Kolesneski, Russian diplomat of old Czarist regime who is on his way across the United States bound for Japan and Siberia.

The only thing that would keep the Turks from Constantinople and still allow the cross to blazen forth on the towers of Saint Sophia would be for the intervention of the United States, the Baron declared. But he did not feel that such an event was within the realm of probabilities because the diplomatic position of the United States, he said, has been strictly "hands off" and he expected by the time he arrived in Tokio that the crescent would again be in its old position.

Baron Kolesneski declared that Russians believed Constantinople belonged to Russia. In fact ever since 1456 when Tsar Ivan the Third married the niece of Constantine the Twelfth, last Emperor Bysantium the Russian Empire regarded the Turks as invaders into Europe and had assumed the role of protector of the Christian nations in the Balkans which had fallen under the Moslem yoke. At the present time with the Bolshevists in control of Russia real Russians would much rather see an Allied Commission in control of the Bosphorus than to have the Turks back.

Traced to Rivalry

"According to the secret treaty passed between the Allies in 1914," said the Baron, "Russia was to get control over the straits but the subsequent collapse of the Imperial Government and the advent to power of the Bolsheviki made this treaty void and enabled England to occupy the straits and assume her present dominating position in Constantinople. If the whole of the Near Eastern problem had to be summarized into a few words, one could justly say that the basis and fundamental reasons of all the Balkan conflagrations can be traced to this historic rivalry between Great Britain and Russia over the question of the straits.

"England having now assumed in this matter a dominating position, the Soviet Government true to the historic ambitions of Russia, is trying to dislodge her out of Constantinople by giving all possible support to the aspirations of Mustapha Kemal."

WAS WILLARD DAY IN THE SCHOOLS

Meade And High Street Pupils Present Temperance Program.

Frances E. Willard Day was observed at the Meade School this morning when the seventh grade at the Meade School, under the direction of Miss Carrie Miller, gave a program in the assembly room. The entertainment was in the form of a dramatization of the life of Frances E. Willard, founder of the temperance movement. The leading characters were taken by the following:

Father, William Martin; mother, Minerva Haner; Oliver, Hugh McIlhenny; Frances, Margaret Tawney; Mary, Mae McDonnell. The Herald, Melchoir Sheads, introduced the characters.

"A Lawful Chain of Temperance Links" was formed by eleven boys and girls, emphasizing the points—"Know the Law," "Reverence of the Law," "Create Public Sentiment," "Report Law Violation," "Lead Citizens to Cooperate," "Support Officials", "Arouse Christian People," "Harmonize State and National Laws," "Advertise Success of Prohibition." The entire school then joined in singing "Work For Prohibition."

A similar dramatization was given at the High street school this afternoon by the sixth grade, under the direction of Miss Maude Miller. The characters were taken by Harold Wentz, father; Martha Furney, mother; Gilbert Myers, Oliver; Ruth Beard, Frances; Elizabeth Ohler, Mary. The part of Herald was taken by Frances Eberhart. The links in the temperance chain were explained. A number of visitors were present.

CONVENTION FAILS TO ENDORSE FORD

Michigan Democrats Refuse to Name Him For Presidential Candidate.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 29.—A movement to indorse Henry Ford as a Presidential candidate in 1924 failed at the Democratic State convention here yesterday when the resolutions committee said such action would be "premature and too far in advance of the election."

The proposal sponsored by the delegation from Adrian, which included S. W. Raymond, a brother-in-law of the Detroit manufacturer, precipitated a fight in the resolutions committee.

Those opposing the movement held that indorsement of Mr. Ford would make the presidential issue the predominating feature of the coming campaign in Michigan and detract from the strength of Woodbridge N. Ferris, the party's nominee for senator. Supporters of the resolution argued that Henry Ford was the real instigator of what they termed "the Newberry issue."

The convention refused to nominate a candidate for auditor general, indorsing the incumbent, O. B. Fuller, Republican, who is seeking re-election. Mrs. Jesse C. Porter of Marshall, was nominated for Secretary of State.

Mr. Ford came in for mention in the report of the resolutions committee,however, when it commended his stand on the coal problem.

STRIKING MINERS' HEARING HALTED

Twelve Men Are Charged With Assault With Intent to Kill.

ACCUSED MEN IDENTIFIED

Mine Superintendent And Party of Men Were Attacked by Mob Who Used Clubs And Threw Stones.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 29.—The hearing of the striking miners accused of unlawful assembly, riot and assault, with intent to kill, in connection with the disturbance at the Potomac mine of the Hoffa Coal Mining Company at Barton, this county, September 18, terminated suddenly yesterday after it had been in progress several hours. The end came when State's Attorney Barnard demanded a jury trial.

The crowd in attendance was so great that Justice Oliver H. Bruce adjourned the hearing from the Council Chamber to the City Hall auditorium, where the following men, charged with assault, with intent to kill, faced the magistrate: Allen Yates, David Murphy, William Evans, Edward Truly, Richard Truly, John Dawson, Russell Kaefer, Edward Hansel, Thomas Neader, Stanley Neat and Douglas Truly.

Charges Dismissed.

Charges against George Sagel, Thomas Fitzpatrick, John Fritzpatrick, Andy Zinai and Andy Youhasz were dismissed by the State.

William Hyde, superintendent of the Potomac Mine, was the first witness. He identified Russell Kaefer as the man who grabbed the bridle rein of his horse as he was riding to the mine, while a mob surrounded him and stones were thrown. He also identified Richard Truly, Thomas Neador and Allen Yates, as participant in the disorder. He said he saw Claude Rogers, a mine driver, knocked from his horse with a club. Hyde denied he was armed or that he ever carried arms. After the State pleaded a jury trial, the defense entered objection.

Held On Assault Charge.

Those held on assault charges are J. D. Warnick, Joseph McCormick, Orval Howell, Joseph Davis, Lee Ross, William Kyle, George Williams, James Kirk, Nyle Foye, Thomas Wilson, Davis Lashbaugh, Patrick Green, all residents of Barton. President Arthur Hoffa of the coal company testified that none of the accused were employed by him. He admitted he had a pistol but said he did not use it. He pointed out Yates, Truly and Kaefer as members of the mob. He said he saw Steven Adams, a striker, who was shot and is still in the hospital, hit at Superintendent William Hyde with a club.

Four men were shot in the disturbance. The October Grand Jury meets one week from Monday.

MINISTER'S WIFE WAS 'A DEVIL'

Jealousy Motive Strengthened by Testimony of Observant Neighbor.

MRS. MILL'S BROTHER MAD

Objects to "Willie" And "Sissy" Being Applied to Him. Tells Reporters to Call Him Mr.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 29.—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, slain clergyman, was a "a devil" in the eyes of Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, his choir leader, whose body was found beside his nearly two weeks ago.

This information, with its bearing on a possible jealousy motive for the slaying, was given detectives Thursday by Miss Millie Opie, a neighbor of the Mills family. Miss Opie earlier had told of frequent telephone conversations between Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills and of many visit smade by the slain rector to the Mills home.

The devil incident, she recalled today, grew out of a pleasure trip to Point Pleasant, a Jersey coast resort. The party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Hall, and Mrs. Mills was to start at 9 o'clock on the morning of July 12, Miss Opie said.

When Mr. Hall failed to call for her at the appointed hour, Mrs. Mills telephoned the Hall home, turning away with the petulant remark that Mrs. Hall wanted "to make the day as short as possible," Miss Opie said. After the outing, she said, Mrs. Mills told her that Mrs. Hall was a "devil."

Is Not A Sissy.

William Stevens, brother of Mrs. Hall, was questioned again at length today, bringing to the courthouse with him the clothing he wore on the night of the double slaying. He was examined at length about spots, said by a cleaner to have been on one of his vests, sent out for dry cleaning since Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were killed.

Emerging from the courthouse, Stevens faced a group of reporters, belligerently, and said:

"I want you fellows to stop calling me Willie. Call me William Stevens or Mr. Stevens. I want you to distinctly understand that I am not feeble-minded and I am not a sissy.

"If you don't believe me," he continued, extracting a battered black briar from his pocket, "smell this pipe."

OLD JEWISH HOLIDAY AT HAND

Synagogues of Country Will Hold Special Services.

Preparations are being made throughout the country for this year's observance of Yom Kippur, or Day of Atonement as it is named in Hebrew, which begins with sunset of Sunday evening and continues for twenty four hours. Rabbis of synagogues are making plans now for the special memorial services which are a part of Yom Kippur.

No other holiday of the synagogue is invested with such importance as is attached to this day of soul-searching and repentance. It is perhaps the most distinctly Jewish holiday of the synagogue, one that is most pervasive and states in fullest measure the ultimate goal and purpose of Israel's striving. The Messianic fulfillment of the Jews as well as humanity's destiny is forevisioned in the liturgy of this service.

The ceremonial observance of the Day of Atonement requires the worshiper to withdraw from all worldly cares, and forgetful of the workaday affairs which have occupied him during the year, give himself unto God in thoughts of prayer and repentance. The devout tarry in the synagogue from morning till evening, abstaining from food and drink, so that by afflicting their souls they may the better purge themselves of sin. Under the severe discipline of this introspection and fasting the worshiper exercises a larger degree of self-control in his relations with humanity and thus becomes reconciled to man and God.

Yom Kippur has a long ancestry, and, like many of the holidays and ceremonials of the synagogue, has undergone changes during the centuries of unbroken historical existence in which the Jews have sojourned among men. In the Mosaic Code, for example, on this day the high priest in the temple performed the important function of expiation for the sanctuary, the priesthood and the people.

HIGHER PRICES NOT CALLED FOR

Senator Smoot Declares Profiteers Have No Excuses.

Washington, Sept. 29—Profiteering at the expense of clothing consumers is being "camouflaged" by some clothing dealers through statements that the new tariff bill will increase prices of suits and overcoats, Senator Smoot, of Utah, Republican leader and member of the Senate finance committee, declared in a statement on the effect of the new wool rates.

"The price of woolen clothing should be cheaper in the spring of 1923 and thereafter," said Senator Smoot. "Statements to the contrary appear to be camouflage put out to hide an intention to profiteer at the expense of the consumer, or for political purposes, or both. There is no reason whatever for any honest, sane person to claim that the price of wool clothing will be higher because of the Fordney-McCumber tariff act."

If tariff rates affect retail prices, Senator Smoot said, the new law should reduce rather than increase clothing prices. He emphasized that the wool rates of the new law are about half those of the previous emergency tariff law and contended that retail prices, therefore, should come down. In fact, he said, manufacturers of woolen cloths were quoting reduced prices for the spring of 1923.

ree's report, "has shaken my faith and belief in the testimony of the witnesses called in the plaintiff's behalf."

The referee held that Mr. Stillman had failed to overcome the proof of legitimacy, "which is one of the strongest known to law and which cannot be overcome except by evidence which is stronger."

On the other hand the truth of Mrs. Stillman's incriminating charges that her husband had maintained and supported Florence Leads as his wife, and that she had given birth to two children "recognized by him," had been "so overwhelming a conviction that the plaintiff's attorneys frankly admitted to the referee that no denial could be made of these charges."

Mrs. Stillman, the decree held, not only offered evidence tending to establish the falsity of the evidence of her misconduct with Beauvais, but also presented evidence tending to show that Mr. Stillman had offered money and position to those who would testify that his wife had misbehaved with his guide.

Through his mother's victory Guy Stillman retains his rights as an heir with his two brothers and sister to the $6,000,000 trust fund created for them by their grandfather, the late James Stillman.

Altogether Mr. Stillman is believed to have spent far in excess of $500,000 in his divorce litigation. The amount turned over to Mrs. Stillman's counsel for alimony, fees and expenses approached $200,000.

WOULD UNITE ALL CREEDS

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Intimation of a movement to unite conservative scholars of all denominations in the compilation of a reference book expected to enhance mutual understanding of all creeds with an ultimate possibility of reuniting the branches of the Christian church was given at today's session of the national council of Catholic men by Rev. John J. Wynne, S. J., one of the editors of the Catholic encycolpedia.

"There are definite signs abroad," said the clergyman of a movement to unite the best conservative scholarship of all religions in the publication of great general reference books which will do more to bring about the reunion of all creeds than any other single force working toward that desired end."

WANT GAS TAX MONEY

Supervisors Ask Township Road Rewards Be Paid.

Resolutions calling upon the incoming Legislature to set aside the State's share of the gasoline tax as a fund from which to pay rewards to townships for construction of roads and bridges in accord with State specifications were adopted by the State Association of Township Supervisors Wednesday, together with a resolution asking that provision be made to meet the arrears and possible claims in addition. It was stated that the State owes about $3,000,000 in the way of rewards, for which claims have been filed with the township division of the Highway Department.

These actions followed a series of addresses upon the reward system as a substitute for the bonus and it was claimed the State should provide the money when it makes appropriations. Resolutions were also adopted against any legislation taking from township officers the collection of township taxes; urging a law compelling property-owners to remove weeds and brush along public roads; demanding that all State-aid roads be maintained by the Highway Department, and thanking the Governor and the Legislature for authorizing the convention and Township Commissioner Joseph W. Hunter and his staff for work in connection with the gathering.

CROSS-EXAMINE ALLERS

Confession, Which Caused Arrest of Others Shown Defense.

(By Associated Press)

Baltimore, Sept. 28.—As star witness for the prosecution, Frank L. Allers, this morning, remounted the witness stand and again was subjected to cross examination by counsel for John L. Smith and Charles Carey, on trial for the murder of William B. Norris in a daylight payroll robbery and holdup on August 18.

Even greater crowds than usual stormed the doors of the court room in the hope of gaining admission. No more than usual was admitted to the chamber, but as always, the big room was crowded.

The entire confession of Allers was turned over as evidence for the defense. This action followed a long fight between State's Attorney Leach and Attorneys Altfeld and Higgins, who are representing Carey and Smith. It means that every part of the statement made by Allers which brought about the arrest of the others involved in the event and concerning the part Socolow is alleged to have played in the murder will be read in court.

Mr. Leach wanted to read only certain portions in the confession, but the court rules if any portion is read, the whole would have to be submitted.

ROMANCE OF WORDS

"PECUNIARY"

IF, AFTER being promised a "pecuniary reward" for the performance of a certain service, a person were to receive a sheep, he would probably feel that he had been deceived or that the one who had made the promise had gone back on his word. But, in its primary meaning, "pecuniary" means "relating to sheep," being taken verbatim from the Latin pecunia which, in turn, is derived from pecus, sheep.

The transformation grew out of the custom of the Romans of measuring a man's wealth by the number of sheep which grazed over his pastures. A "man of many sheep" was the equivalent of a wealthy citizen, for sheep were valuable not only for their wool but also as an article of diet. Gradually, the root-word pecus was lengthened to pecunia, the equivalent of "money" or "worldly possessions," and its pastoral origin was almost completely obscured when transplanted into English. Should a restaurant, therefore, advertise a "pecuniary stew" it would not necessarily mean that dollar bills and gold pieces appear in the dish, but it would merely be an etymologically allowable synonym for the old standby, "mutton stew."

THE WORLD AGAINST HIM

(By Associated Press)

Des Moines, Sept. 28—After having had his hat forcibly removed by a deputy sheriff when the American flag passed during the Grand Army of the Republic parade here yesterday, Samuel R. Hiatt, 36, was arrested and when put in a cell was beaten severely by prisoners to whom he told the story and appealed for sympathy. A turnkey heard the beating and rescued Hiatt after both eyes were blackened and his forehead cut. He was released on bond.

TRYING HIS BEST TO MESS THINGS UP AGAIN

FIND MYSTERY WOMAN

Now Believe Cumberland Man Committed Suicide.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 29—The mysterious woman named in the death of Frederick H. Blaul, wealthy meat packer, who died Tuesday from arsenical poisoning, has been found.

Miss Laura Oliver, divorced wife of Eugene A. Thomas, a Baltimore physician, has denied she ever received any money or favors from Blaul and says on the contrary the decedent was indebted to her to the sum of $11,000.

She further says he pressed his attentions to the point where he became classed as an annoyer.

Following a visit to her home by State's Attorney Fuller Barnard, Chief of Police Oscar Eyerman and Walter W. Clay, a detective, Miss Oliver refused to make any statement, saying she was acting upon the advice of counsel. Between denials of all interviews, she said:

"It's all wrong that Mr. Blaul was buying motor cars for me and doing all kinds of favors. The fact is Mr. Blaul owes me money, for which I have his notes, as I drew $11,000 in cash from the bank at one time and turned it over to him. As for the insurance policy, Mr. Blaul turned one for $10,000 over to me as part security for the $11,000 loan. Before the case is over the world will know that I am innocent. Mr. Blaul's death is a great surprise."

FLAPPERS?

Regulating Them Easy—If You Know How, Says College Dean

MISS JEAN HAMILTON

By NEA Service.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 28.—As the new dean of women in the University of Michigan, Miss Jean Hamilton finds herself in the position of advisor, mentor, and first friend to hundreds of impressionable college girls.

It goes without saying that she has ideas about flappers. One of them is that "must" and "must not" are words that seldom should be utilized by a woman in her position.

"Young people resent the common criticisms of their elders because the elders often have so little sense of the relative importance of things," says she.

"Eyebrow pencils and lipsticks aren't moral issues. So why waste ammunition on little rabbits when you might need it later for big game? All too often when elder persons lay down the law for the young women to follow blindly, their laws are based on personal likes and dislikes instead of real moral foundations. If I succeed in getting across to my girls an idea that is square to the world, it is because the idea itself possesses authority rather than I."

Jean Hamilton is good to look at. Her hair is soft and brown. Her eyes are those of a woman who understands the complexities of others. And when her face is lighted by her smile, the beholder instinctively knows that Jean Hamilton is not one of those who have "so little sense of the relative importance of things."

Miss Hamilton was graduated from Vassar in 1900, receiving an M. A. from the same college a year later, after which she became executive secretary of the National League of Girls' Clubs, where she gained training and experience for her new position here.

MULE MOST EFFICIENT

Erivan, Sept. 29—The American mule is 2.06 times as efficient as the Armenian ox, and 2.68 times as efficient as the Caucasian horse, according to figures reported by the American farming experts in charge of the agricultural program of the Near East in the Caucasus.

These computations are made on a cost-efficiency basis, taking into consideration capital investment, upkeep, length of service, and amount of work accomplished. The mule beats even the tractor in small farming operations, but farms of more than 500 acres bring down tractor costs per unit of work done to a basis below that of the mule.

American mules were introduced here about a year ago. American relief organizations now use 300 of these animals on their various agricultural relief projects. Plans for the breeding of the American type mule on Armenian soil will be shortly carried into effect in northern Armenia.

TELLS OF ROAD TO HAPPINESS

A. B. Farquhar, Famous Citizen of York, Tells Formula of Success.

York, Sept. 29.—One of the most active men at his age in public life in the United States is A. B. Farquhar, York's most widely-known citizen and venerable manufacturer, who, Wednesday celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday anniversary. Mr. Farquhar did not spend the day idly, either. He left here on Tuesday for Omaha, Neb., where he is attending a directors' meeting of the National Chamber of Commerce.

When asked how it feels to be eighty-four years old, he said: "Life has never been dull to me, because I have always been active. Life is growing more interesting to me with gathering years, one thing that has kept me young at heart and body." He is known all over the United States as "York's Grand Old Man." He said in part:

"Life has never become dull to me, because I have always been busy. A certain amount of recreation is good for everyone, but the greatest blessing that can come to anyone is to be intensely interested in his work. Work, well and faithfully done, with a pride in its quality, becomes play, and there is little time for discontent and ennui. The physical exercise in a game of baseball or football is not felt because of the love of the game. It is quite possible to love one's work so that it, too, becomes a form of recreation, and there is less disposition to waste time in an endeavor to find forms of entertainment that often merely add to a desire for more excitement."

TURKS TAUGHT ENGLISH

Constantinople, Sept. 29—A special school has been instituted in the Palace of Yildiz in order to give the Imperial Princes of Turkey a special education and the benefits of modern instruction.

Professors have been engaged in France and the princes will be taught, among other things, four languages, French, German, English and Latin. Admission is confined to Princes of royal blood and the children of nobles.

A pawnbroker's shop was on fire and a woman spectator was greatly excited. Every few minutes she would urge the firemen to more strenuous efforts, until presently a bystander said: "What's the matter, missus? There's no one in there. What's all the fuss about?" "Fuss? There ain't no fuss at present," replied the woman, "but there will be if they don't get the fire out soon. My old man's fall suit is in hock there and he don't know it."—Boston Transcript.

Gettysburg High Football Team To Lock Horns With Millersburg.

Millersburg High school football team will be the attraction on the Playground gridiron, Saturday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock, when they lock horns with the Gettysburg High school eleven. Millersburg High team is an unknown quantity, this being the first time the local school has met it.

The Maroon and White team is reported in excellent condition, having completed a full week of hard practice and are prepared to repeat last week's victory. Coaches Reynolds and Morganthall have lighter material to work with than last year, but the teamwork of the squad this season is unquestioned. Both the line and the backfield are reported in first-class playing condition.

"What was all dat noise ovah at youah house last night, Rose?" asked one colored woman of another. "Sounded lak a lot ob wile cats broke loose." "Huh! Dat? Why, dat was nuffin but de man frum de fuhniture stah collectin' his easy payments."—Praire Farmer.

13,711 BILLS WERE BEFORE CONGRESS

Over a Thousand Were Enacted Into Law by 67th Congress.

Washington, D. C. Sept. 29.—More than 13,000 bills—13,711 by actual count—of all sorts and descriptions were introduced in the House since the Sixty-seventh Congress went to work in April, 1921. Clerks checking up today found that of this number 1057 were passed.

In the Sixty-sixth Congress 15,492 bills were presented and 734 of these became laws. Some mathematical sharks attempted to figure how much it would cost the Government and how much time would have been required had all the measures proposed been enacted, but they ran out of pencils and paper.

"Anybody can throw a bill into the hopper," said a veteran legislator, "but it takes a wise man to put it through the mill."

WAR VETERAN WEDS AT AGE OF 81

Saw Service in Both Confederate And Union Armies.

Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 29.—Josiah Gladden, aged 81, of Harrisonburg, Va., and Mrs. Malinda Goslin, aged 57, of Brunswick Md., were married Tuesday at Funkstown, this county, by Rev. W. L. Remsberg, pastor of the Lutheran Church.

Both had been married before, the groom's first wife having died 23 years ago. Mr. Gladden served through the Civil War in both armies, being drafted into the Confederate Army, from which he deserted. He then joined the Union Army, and fought under General Sheridan. Despite his age, the groom is well-preserved and is actively engaged.

Tholan, pastor of Biglerville Lutheran; piano solo, Esther Bigham; vocal duet, Misses Eva and Almeda Carey; talk by the president, Miss Hanna Ulrick. The meeting was closed with the Christian Endeavor benediction. After twelve meetings of this kind, a chain meeting, supervised by Miss Hannah Ulrick and Miss Margaret Lady, will be started.

have "roughed it" while on the trip. At night, with air conditions favorable, messages broadcasted from their native state could be heard in Indiana, both stated.

In some sections of the West, the antennae above the machine were a novelty to the residents and the travelers were kept busy answering questions concerning the workings of the wireless, they declared. On an Indian reservation, one of the Red Men asked Mr. Stichweh whether the wires were used as lines on which to hang wash.

Before leaving Gettysburg, the tourists were taken over the battlefield. They expect to reach Booneton, by Saturday after an absence of six months.

ONLY BACHELOR IS LONESOME

Lone Survivor of Club of Twenty Three Sells Clubhouse.

Waukegan, Ill., Sept. 29.—Thirty two years ago twenty three Waukegan business men forswore marriage, formed a bachelors' club and bought a club house on Third Lake.

Today the old circle had dwindled to one—Clarence J. Bassett, a jeweler—and he sold the club.

"It's too lonesome," he said. "When any of the old fellows come back they always bring a lot of wives and things."

When the break in the ranks started, William W. Pearce, offered a silver loving cup for the first pair of twins. Ten years later he won it himself.

The old bachelor club is to be turned over to vacation colonists.

Mr. Meek, a widower with one daughter, had married Mrs. Wild, a widow with a daughter. The curate was visiting the newly-wedded folks and the new Mrs. Meek was trying to make a good impression on him. "Yes," she was saying, "my stepdaughter is as dear to me as my own daughter. I show no preference and love them equally." There was a step outside the door, then a tap. Mrs. Wild put on her kindliest smile. "Is that you, darling?" she asked. "No, ma," came the weary voice of her step-daughter, "it's me."—Judge.

JOYFUL FAMILY REUNION

"Two of my brothers, a sister, as well as myself have been chronic sufferers from gas in stomach, indigestion, pain in right side near appendix and liver trouble for many years. My sister tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with such good results that we all took a course of it and it helped in each case. Last Sunday we had a family reunion in celebration of our recovery and what we all did eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. PYORRHEA

Try this New Treatment for Pyorrhea, Bleeding, Receding Gums With Loose Teeth—at Our Expense.

Broad minded doctors and dentists who have given MOAVA DENTAL CREAM—a highly concentrated formula for the treatment of Pyorrhea—a trial are astonished at the rapid results obtained.

It seems almost unbelievable but it is a fact nevertheless that a few treatments over a period of one or two days makes the gums feel better and reduces the soreness. Used faithfully for one week, a decided improvement is seen. Continue for a few weeks until the gums are healthy, the sponginess and soreness all gone and the teeth are firm and immovable.

All druggists who sell Moava TOOTH PASTE are authorized to return the purchase price to anyone who cannot see a decided improvement after its use. —Peoples Drug Store can supply you.

ASSAULTED 11 YEAR-OLD-GIRL

Aged Man Denies Guilt. Jury Returns Verdict of Guilty.

Princess Anne, Md., Sept. 29.—Lee Justice of Salisbury, aged 59, was found guilty yesterday of carnal knowledge of Ethel Collins, aged 11, by a jury in the Circuit Court. The jury was out three-quarters of an hour. Sentence has not yet been imposed.

The testimony showed that Justice rented a room last summer in the same house in which the girl and her mother lived. It was charged that on the night of July 27, last, Justice, who had been in the habit of giving the child money, was asked by her for more money. The girl testified that he told her to come to his room, and that when she went he committed the assault upon her.

Justice denied the guilt and other witnesses supported his innocence. Dr. Truitt of Salisbury testified that an examination showed no evidence of an assault, but added that an assault might have been made without leaving any evidence of it.

Where Extra Service is Demanded
Firestone Cords Predominate

WHEREVER the exactions and tests of tires are most severe—there you will find Firestone Cords in universal use.

The hard jobs seek Firestone. And so well has Firestone responded under difficult conditions—so consistently has mileage mounted to totals impossible to obtain from ordinary tires that today Most Miles per Dollar is the buying slogan of thinking motorists everywhere.

The blending and tempering of rubber, gum-dipped cord construction, air-bag cure—all these mileage methods have been developed by men whose life work is the production of constantly increasing tire values for the public.

Users in this vicinity verify Firestone reputation, and report almost daily some new Firestone record of extra distance travelled.

Don't be satisfied to buy tires—buy values—the longest mileage at the lowest price consistent with such reliable performance.

Make Most Miles per Dollar your principle of tire economy — choose your next tire on that basis.

Excellent Advice.

The best advice handed out in a long time is, "So live that you won't ask to have it kept out of the papers."—Bridgeport Post.

LETTER YOU WROTE TO BE WITHDRAWN

One May Now Act in Haste And Repent at Leisure.

You write a letter.
You say some caustic things in it.
Next you drop it in the mailbox.
Then you get letter-writer's cold foot, the malady that attacks one after mailing a letter which never should have been written.
And it has all been irrevocable.
But now a recent ruling of the Postoffice Department has come to the aid of the sufferers.

Suppose Mabel in the throes of a temperamental storm, writes John that she has heard all about it and, therefore, he can expect to receive his ring back as soon as she can get it to him. She doesn't tell him what she has heard because she doesn't know definitely what it was. But at any rate she sprinkles the missive with her tears, signs herself "yours truly," adds her full name and drops the thing in the box.

Girls, to use classic English, even the Postoffice Department knows that you "hadn't ought to posted it." To give you a chance to think it over they permit the withdrawal of letters from the mail prior to delivery.

If ample proof can be submitted to the postal authorities that the person seeking to have the letter withdrawn was the writer.

If the handwriting you submit as proof is identified with the handwriting in the letter.

If your description of the letter tallies accurately with the letter when it is found.

The rule goes even further. In cases of emergency it permits Postmasters to telegraph railway mail clerks instructions to fish out letters from mail pouches in the course of delivery and return them to the postoffice where they were postmarked.

What the rule doesn't do is causing the man in the street some concern. He wants to know if the Postoffice Department can't fix up some ruling about the letter that wasn't written but should have been.

THE MORNING

Back to the morning—and don't despair.
Back to the morning—the sun is there.
Back to the morning and follow and find in its glow
The sweets of the world and the songs of the world as they flow!

Back to the morning—out of the night arise.
Back to the morning—beautiful are the skies.
Back to the morning and take through life to the end,
A hope and a dream and a promise, a guide and a friend!

Back to the morning—and do not mind.
Back to the morning—and never again be blind.
Back to the morning—and sounding its creed and its truth
Forget there was doubt and joy in the faith of your youth!

Kidney And Bladder Troubles Have To Go

Clogged Up Kidney Deposits Are Disolved And The Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Told To Guarantee It In Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys so whatever you do don't neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous Prescription No. 777 (known for years as Marshroot) is not recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water night and day, with smarting or irritation, brick dust sediment or highly colored urine, bloating, irritability with loss of flesh, or any other tendency to Brights Disease, Diabetis or Gravel, for kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Don't wait until to-morrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription now obtainable in both liquid and tablet form if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney and Bladder troubles don't wear away. They will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and with unfaling certainty. A HAUNTING MAID

By MILDRED WHITE

(©, 1922, by Western Newspaper Union.)

Bruce had promised his friend that when he passed through the quaintly beautiful town of Lynden, he would call on his aunt.

"Aunt Caroline is a queer old bird," the friend disrespectfully informed him. "She has money to give away, but she never does give it away; in fact, I have not heard from the dear old lady, since when at college, I touched her for a ten. However, that is in the dim and dusty past. But it might be to your advantage to meet Aunt Caroline, as you are obliged to stop over in the deadly restful villa."

Bruce, walking about the lonely village streets at twilight, decided to follow his friend's suggestion. But first, he asked directions of the voluble hotel keeper.

"You askin' for Miss Latimer," that man exclaimed, "why she's been dead more than two months. The house is closed up, until Susanah, Miss Latimer's maid, gets back from the city with the help she went after to clean it. They have to pack things up for auction."

"Who," asked Bruce in the interest of his friend, "did Miss Latimer will her property to?"

The man grinned. "To missions," he said, "though no one knew she had any missionary spirit, while she lived—beyond adopting Susanah from the orphanage, but then Sue worked her own way, if ever a girl did. Miss Latimer kept her going. An' she hasn't left her a cent. Some think what made Miss Latimer so queer, was dwelling on the haunt. Sort of got on her mind, it did, that old story of the haunt woman of Latimer garden."

Bruce smiled amusedly, "Tell me about it," he said.

The hotel keeper lighted his pipe enjoyably.

"The haunt woman," he explained, "was a Latimer way back before even Miss Caroline's time. Got disappointed in love the way girls used to, before bobbed hair and athletics an' all that come in. And ever since, she's been haunting the big gates, waiting for the man who never came back. Some negroes who saw her one night, says she wears a long white lace dress, and has black hair, piled up the way they used to do, with a white rose in it. She has a white face that looks tragic with its big black eyes, and she is certainly mighty pretty."

"Sounds interesting," Bruce remarked, "I will take a look at Miss Latimer's deserted home."

The gardens were very still in the moonlight. He admitted an eerie feeling, as he sank to a seat on an old stone bench. Then he saw the vision. She came, a wraithlike figure, around the old stone wall, to the gates, and stood there, her face turned toward the road. At Bruce's low ejaculation, she turned, her dark eyes regarding him. In the clear moonlight he could almost see their expression of mild surprise.

Then with a soft little rush she came toward him, "Who are you?" she asked.

"Pardon me," he spoke mechanically, "I had thought the place deserted."

"It is deserted," her voice low and soft, answered him. "I only come back to haunt the home I have known. Who," the question came wonderingly, "are you?"

Briefly he told her of his promised errand and its disappointment.

"Yes, Caroline Latimer is gone," the low voice trailed off dreamily, "and she may not extend to you the hospitality she loved to give. Perhaps—I may do it for her; would you like to come tomorrow evening? It is then that I am here—and I will call for you her favorite birds from the trees—and show to you, the family pictures in the gallery. Now—" she turned from him quickly, "I must go back to the gates—to watch."

She lingered there, as he went perplexed yet interested as he never had been interested down the road.

Bruce hurried back upon the next evening. The vision was seated before an old piano in the great living room. But her fingers did not touch the keys. His own steps echoed as he crossed the polished floor. She arose to receive him, her smile warmed his heart. Before the old painting she paused, and a girl of an olden time gazed smilingly down on her living prototype.

"I found this dress in Miss Caroline's old trunk in the attic," the vision girl was saying, "and the whim seized me to masquerade. The women have been packing the things upstairs. I was waiting for them to arrive last evening. It will be hard to leave the only home I have known. I guess it was intended that I never should have a real home." Wistful-eyed, she looked up at Bruce.

"Who," he spoke abruptly, "are you?"

"Why, I thought you knew, I am Susanah, I have been Miss Latimer's maid. Sometimes she would call me her adopted daughter." Bruce was astonished to hear his own words.

"I shall buy this old place," he said, "my mother has been wanting to live in the country. And will you stay with her here to keep her company while I must be away? I—I should like to see you there, when—I came back, waiting at the gate."

Little Sue smiled. "Of course this is all a dream," she said. To Bruce it seemed like a dream indeed, as he walked back down the moonlit road; but he held a white rose in his hand.

CARRYING PACKAGES

"IT IS one of the wholesome signs of the age," says a member of the Department of Agriculture, "that people are breaking away from the idea that a perfect lady or gentleman never carried a package."

It is really hard to remember that such an opinion ever was held, and you may be sure if you know anyone who still clings to the notion that it is beneath his dignity to carry a bundle of any sort that that person is quite behind the times and has not kept pace with the times.

The only time when it is bad form to carry packages or bundles is when by doing so you might cause others annoyance or inconvenience. A woman should bear in mind that if she is going to be accompanied by a man, good breeding will demand that he carry any bundles or packages she may have. Sometimes a married woman on going out with her husband carries an unnecessary number of bundles feeling that she may carry these herself if she chooses. To insist on doing this will put her husband in a bad light, for he will appear to have neglected to offer to carry them.

Again when you are going to be conveyed to your destination in a friend's automobile you should not burden yourself with a lot of unweildy packages unless you have been assured beforehand that your friend wishes to do so. If you have to travel in a crowded car or train it is inconsiderate to carry bulky luggage that will add to the discomfort of the other travelers.
